Let's say Goodnight

Restful sleep, nature's sweet restorer, can be had in our kinds of beds. Such beds, such pillows, such mattresses, such springs will lighten your cares, and make life a pleasure. Our beds are such nice "dreams" that your dream can only be a pleasant one when you sleep upon them. A room adorned with one of our beds will look like dreamland. Let us help you make your home a dream. You can enjoy our beds both night and day.

Superintendent of Schools W. T. Bishop has been given an increase of salary, by the board of education and hereafter he will receive $1900 per year.

A Jersey man has discovered that box kites flying over his chicken runs protect them from the attacks of hawks. Worth trying.

Carroll Van Ark, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Ark of 107 West Fourteenth street, while swinging in the hammock last Friday fell to the porch and broke his leg.

Mr. Cochran of the South Haven line was in Saugatuck to confer with representatives of the Fruit Shippers Association regarding a direct boat to Chicago. The fruit shippers talk so encouraging that it is almost certain that we will have a direct boat this season.

G. Vreeling of Saugatuck hauled in two catfish on the same line at the same time last week. That fact isn't so wonderful but when we consider that one weighed 21½ pounds and the other 15 pounds it seems that the fish are rather plentiful. Jay Meyers gets some good catches every day or so at the ferry.—Saugatuck Commercial.

There will be a special election in Grand Haven on June 26 to get the sentiment of the voters regarding the proposition of bonding the city in the sum of $30,000 for the purchase of grounds for a public park and for the improving and beautifying the same.

Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. H. Post the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, D. A. R. held its closing meeting of the year. Mrs. Post exhibited twelve flags, showing the evolution of the present American flag. Mrs. F. C. Hall gave an interesting report of the work planned for next year by the patriotic committee of the local chapter. It is expected that prizes will be given for the highest standings in American History attained by pupils in the Grammar and High schools and also for essays on patriotic subjects chosen by the committee. Five new members were received into the society, making a total of 35. Mrs. H. P. Burkholder was elected delegate and Mrs. F. C. Hall regent's alternate to the state conference which will be held at Benton Harbor in October.

Rev. Jacob C. Pelgrim, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pelgrim of this city, has accepted a call to the Avenue Reformed church of Jersey City, N. J.

G. J. Nykerk, farmer living a few miles north of the city, delivered some of the first home grown strawberries of the season to B. Steketee Saturday.

The West Michigan Furniture Co., will give their annual excursion to Kalamazoo Saturday, June 26. The train will leave the Pere Marquette depot at 9 a. m., returning leave Kalamazoo at 8 p. m. These annual excursions have not alone become popular with the factory employes but also with a large number of citizens.

While operating a sizing saw at the C. L. King company's plant Thursday, Alfred Alderink caught his right hand in the rapidly moving machinery and before it could be stopped, the member was badly lacerated. Dr. Mersen bound up the wounded hand, and Alderink was taken to his home at Thirtieth and Van Raalte avenue.

At Monday night's meeting of the board of public works very little was accomplished. The communication of the council, asking the board to place electric lights at 18 different parts of the city where it was deemed necessary, was turned down as there is no available money at the present time. No doubt the matter will be taken up toward fall. Jas. Westveer was reappointed collector.

It being too late for a change of adv Mr. Weersing, the real estate man, wishes to say that part of the bargains in his list on page 2 have been sold but that he has also a fine list of fine property bargains left that are not listed in his adv. The satisfaction given buyers who approve of their purchases is a bona fide guarantee as to the reliability of the Weersing agency.

A little quiet work done by the local granges and the introduction of some competition has had the effect of lowering the price of berry crates from last years price of 14 cents to the present price of a shilling. It is believed that the prices on other kinds of fruit packages will also rule considerably lower than they did last year. When farmers take a notion to work together they can get what they want.—Farmville Herald.

W. H. Beach, Walter Lane and Frank Conleton of the Bush & Lane Piano Company attended the Eighth annual convention of the National Piano Manufacturers in Detroit last week. Michigan leads in the piano industry in the United States and the local factory was represented by a fine line of high grade pianos. Walter Lane, who designs the Bush & Lane makes was recently awarded first premium at a piano exhibit in New York City for general contour and gracefulness of lines on Model 12, one of the finest pianos made by the local company.

City Engineer Henry Naberhuis has been given a Civil Engineering Degree by the University of Iowa, from which institution he graduated four years ago. This honor is rarely conferred by the college and is awarded only for special progress in some line of engineering. Mr. Naberhuis received his degree from the faculty of Iowa University after preparing a thesis on the subject "The Tensile Strength of Concrete and Re-enforced Steel Concrete Construction." This work required great care and a series of laboratory experiments that extended over a long period of time.

Fred Littlejohn of Allegan is relating a good, but rather expensive, joke on himself. Last week he decided to take his family to Kalamazoo for a visit and concluded it would be cheaper to go in his automobile. They arrived in that city without mishap, but when at one of the state institutions there a tire burst. He went down town after a repair man, paid a dollar to get a "shoe" on the tire, and they started back. About half way to the city another tire burst, so he ran the machine to the garage on the rims. New tires cost $28 and repairs $4 or $5 more. They then decided to go to Augusta, and while returning from there Mrs. Littlejohn lost an $18 jacket. They reached home without any further mishap, and Fred is busy selling more Valley farms to get his money back.—Allegan News.

NEW SENATE OFFICE BUILDING.

United States senators now have magnificent offices in this new building which is connected with the capital by an underground tunnel. Electric automobiles run between the two buildings.

A sun eclipse will take place tonight at about sunset, and can be seen here if the sky becomes clear.

Let us, then, be up and shooting, with a heart for any fate, lighting fuses and then scooting—learn to stand aside and wait.—Judge.

The Graham & Morton Trans. Co., will put on their double daily boat service Monday. For detailed information see time card on page 3.

The farm telephone wire is the connecting link between neighbors and the outside world. It banishes loneliness and creates sympathy and a spirit of optimism.

Tony Vander Pels, Herman and Henry Derks of Zeeland, arrested for illegal fishing in Black river changed their pleas of not guilty to guilty and they be sentenced by Justice Van Duren on June 28.

The Ladies of Crescent Hive held their annual memorial services in Maccabee hall Sunday afternoon which were very beautiful and impressive. The officers entered in order and took their places. The charter was then draped and the members took part in the ceremony, after which 21 of the ladies went to the cemetery with flowers to decorate the graves of their departed sisters.

Board of Education

At a regular meeting of the board of education held Monday evening several applications for teachers were accepted among them O. W. Stevenson, of Ewart as principal of the High school, Herman Lang, a graduate of Olivet for Science teacher, Miss Pauline Martin, a graduate of Olivet college and the University of Michigan, who will teach Latin in the High school and Miss Dorothea Kneeland who graduates this year from the University will have charge of history and German.

For the grades, the Misses Louise Warnshuis and Gertrude Boot have been engaged and Miss Edna Florida of Reed City, a graduate of the Ypsilanti Normal, will succeed Miss Vanderveen as supervisor of drawing and will also have charge of the girls' sewing classes.

Five 18-inch suspension globes were ordered, one for each building and arrangements completed for the summer election of school trustees, the retiring members of the board being B. Steketee, I. Mar silje, W. H. Wieg, J. W. Visscher and A. C. Keppel.

Verne Williams who was implicated in the Notter Van Ark and Winter store robbery came home on the Puritan from Chicago Tuesday after wandering over seven states. He gave himself up to Chief Kamferbeek. No doubt the boy will be sent to the reform school. The matter was taken before Probate Judge Edward P. Kirby who will dispose of it after receiving the evidence.

There is only $35 apiece for every man, woman and child in this country. The prevailing prejudice against Mr. Rockefeller is due to the fact that he seems to have got more than his share.

A government judge has judicially decided what whiskey is. Any good judge of it can decide what it isn't. But not always judicially.

A wet Fourth makes a lean graveyard.

The Common Council

At the council meeting last night a petition was presented by the residents in the neighborhood of the Gas works asking that the proposed Thompson factory be kept off the property of the Vander Linde estate in that neighborhood. The matter was referred to the aldermen of the First Ward for investigation. The Restaurant Ordinance requiring a $5.00 license fee for restaurants and hotels was repealed.

Warren W. Hanchett will be asked to resign from the Board of Public Works or else attend the meetings hereafter. It is likely that Mr. Hanchett will resign because pressing business interferes with work on the board. Mr. Hanchett refused the job in the first place, knowing that he could not fulfil the duties that go with it but it was practically forced on him by the council two years ago.

The board of health asked that something be done to do away with the "City Frog Pond" on the corner of Pine and Eighth street as it is now a menace to health. The sidewalk proposed over the Tannery Creek on Fifteenth street will be built. The cost to the city will be $203.

The City Hall committee, after making its junket of Michigan cities, gave a full report, recommending that the building be of brick, 88x104, two stories high with a high basement. In the basement will be the storerooms for the Board of Public Works, the police department, G. A. R. rooms, polling place and boiler room. On the first floor will be the offices of the mayor, clerk, treasurer, engineer, assessors, the city library, and the offices of the board of public works. On the second floor will be the council chamber, a court room and rooms for the various city boards and committees.

Large vaults will be provided that will be capable of caring for papers and valuables belonging to the city for years to come.

The council will ask for preliminary sketches from architects in competition and the successful architect will receive the job of drawing up the real plans. It was decided, at the request of the firm buying the bonds to make the single bonds, rates of payment remaining the same. The bonds will be lithographed instead of signed, but care will be taken to see that no bogus bonds can be issued.

We Should Get This Convention.

Confident that there will be but few more of the annual encampments of the G. A. R. of the state, the local post is putting forth every effort to land the next convention for this city, and so far, the project is meeting with great success. The local delegation will go before the veterans at the Kalamazoo convention the latter part of the month with the invitation, which will be backed up by the solid support of the local merchants and business men. In order that some action may be taken along this line, a special meeting of all interested has been called by President Dykstra of the Merchant's association next Monday evening in G. A. R. hall.

While the numbers attending the encampment are annually growing less, the securing of the 1910 convention will insure the presence of at least 2,000 visitors here during the week, and it is thought that a considerable sum of money can be raised by subscription to entertain the visitors. There is little doubt that the encampment can be secured if a suitable subscription can be raised, as the hotel facilities of the city and nearby resorts would easily accommodate the crowds.

The local post, G. A. R. has ordered a number of ribbons and buttons bearing the legend, "We are for Holland, 1910," and these will be distributed broadcast at the Kalamazoo convention. An active canvass among the officers of the state organization has shown that many of them will support Holland when the question of a meeting place for next year comes up.

Attorney Woodworth was in Holland on business Saturday. Mr. Sheridan, the new lighthouse keeper, is now able to get to the mainland without a boat as he crossed the old mouth of the river below the lighthouse by wading the other day.

Jas Koning has opened his fruit and vegetable store on the corner of Butler street and the Public Square and will do a jobbing and retail business. By keeping in touch with the Chicago market and making frequent trips to that city he will be able to buy as low as possible and sell to local dealers at bottom prices, and at the same time command a good retail trade.

The Continental bridge Co., of Ill., will commence work on a new pier at the swing bridge next week and the bridge will therefore be closed for a few days and perhaps more than a week. The company will also construct two bridges near Mr. White's place on the Eddy road in the near future which will cost the township $985.

Mrs. Alexander Thompson delightfully entertained the members of her former Hope church Sunday school class at her home in Saugatuck Thursday. The afternoon was spent with games and music and the boys remained for supper.

About $50 has been raised for a baseball club here, and the grounds just east of the Ebmeyer estate property have been secured from Messrs. Leland and Francis. An organization will be formed soon.

The new pier lights which is just being constructed is to be thirty feet high and have on it four acetylene carbide tanks each capable of furnishing gas for a continuous light of three months. By this method it will not be necessary to visit the lights more than three times a year.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER

35 Years ago To-day.

Mr. J. W. Minderhout, has the job of building the residence of Engineer King on Ninth street. It will be a two-story frame building, with stone basement.

From what we can learn the West part of the old School District, lying between the Allegan County line and the City limits is still dissatisfied with the location of the site for a school house. The District School Board lately organized has been dissolved by the school inspectors of the township, on Tuesday for the reason that the School of the District was a graded School, and required the election of a Board of Trustees, as the proper successors of the old Board. The following parties were elected as trustees: B. Grootenhuys, H. Van der Haar, W. Diekema, H. Manting J. Visscher and F. Plassman. It appears that that part of the District consisting of Sect. 33, the east part of Sect. 32 and a part of Sect. 28, prefer to be annexed to School District No. 4 of the Township of Holland. The settlement between the City and this District will be made soon, and the building of the school house commenced with.

Kill or Cure—Kill. Arsenic as a substitute for quinine did not operate with the desired result in the following case. Mr. Frederick Gadick, came here from Racine, Wis., a year ago last May, and settled in the Fifth(?) Ward, bought a lot there and built a house on it. He was a German, and had been in this country several years, was fifty-six years old, a tanner by trade, married and lived happy and contented, until the fever and ague made life unpleasant for him. He had been shaking and suffering for months; finally after exhausting all the remedies known to him, he was told one day, about four weeks ago, that arsenic was a sure remedy for the ague. In a spell of despair he stated that he might as well be dead than to suffer all his life, and bought ten cents' worth of arsenic, of which he took one-half on Saturday evening at 9 o'clock, and the other half one hour afterwards. At 1 o'clock a physician was sent for. Dr. Annis attended, but the dose was too much, and at 4 o'clock the poor man was dead. An inquest was held that same day before Justice Post, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts. The jury consisted of Messrs. M. D. Howard, Geo. Metz, S. Webster, A. Van Dyke, F. Souter and B. Lasman.

On Wednesday forenoon a part of the South wall of Mr. Kenyon's new building gave away, and fell in.

KEPT THE SABBATHARIAN LAW

Records of Two Noted Men Cited as a Rebuke of the Laxness of the Present Day.

Two remarkable instances of fidelity to the letter of Sabbatharian law were given at the annual breakfast of the Lord's Day Observance society.

"I am afraid Scotland is leading in the van of Sabbath breaking," said Rev. Lord Blythwood, who presided. "One would think that people would notice and profit by the constantly illustrated fact that the man who observes the Lord's day prospers."

"I have worked for nearly 50 years, and such is my conscience that I would never put a foot in a train on the Lord's day, neither would I use a public conveyance."

"One might say it has prevented me from preaching in many places, but I cannot help that; I have had to drag myself along with the bag that contained my gown."

The other instance was contained in the speech of Prof. Beresford Pite. "The late Sir George Livesey told me," he said, "that he had never spent a Sunday away from his wife."

"Traveling from Glasgow on Saturday, he found that he could only arrive home at Tumbidge Wells by traveling on Sunday, so when he arrived at St. Pancras in the early hours of Sunday morning he walked the remaining distance (more than 40 miles), although over 70 years of age, and attended service at Rochester on the way."—London Express.

MUCH FUN WITH STOP WATCH

Owner Describes a Variety of Ways in Which He Has Found It Affords Him Diversion.

"Having a stop watch," says the man who had just bought one, "reveals a whole lot of ways of amusing yourself that you'd hardly think of before."

"Since I've had a watch I've been able to while away a lot of time. Not a pun, either. For instance, walking in the city where the numbered blocks make calculating easy. I am continually holding the watch on my pedestrian efforts."

"I figure first how long it takes me to walk a block. Going at top speed so that some folks think I'm mad. I have been able to do 88 yards in 29.25 seconds, or about seven miles an hour."

"Then, of course, I time all intermediate distances up to a mile. I've learned pretty well just what four miles an hour means, and I want to tell you that folks who speak so glibly about doing that ought to hold a watch on their performances to see what it means."

"The other day I got up some sprint races between some boys just so I could time their running. I find there's a lot of fun, too, in making imaginary bets with myself how long it will take me to catch up with some one else walking in the same direction or how long it will be before a car gets to a certain crossing."

"Also a stop watch is a great thing for timing how long you can hold your breath."

Keeping the Dollar at Work.

The period of waiting between the sowing of advertising seed and the reaping of the sales harvest is often an anxious time for the merchant whose capital is limited.

To the small dealer, therefore, quick returns are of even greater importance than to the big one. He must use rapid-fire mediums. The same money that he invests in publicity today must be available for reinvestment with the shortest possible delay.

The newspaper alone is capable of meeting his requirements. Attractive display in the advertising columns of a live newspaper ordinarily pays its own way, with, of course, interest, on the day of publication.—Philadelphia Record.

Better Yet.

"Humph!" says the lady with the extra supply of artificial puffs. "Just listen to this crazy stuff in the woman's department of this magazine: 'To retain your husband's interest in you remember the little traits and ways and mannerisms that won his affections. Be coy, be vivacious. Flirt with him.'"

"Well," responds the lady with the shiny nose, "that seems to me to be good advice."

"Humph! To retain your husband's interest in you, flirt with somebody else's husband, my dear."—Life.

The Bees and the Candy Man.

A commercial traveler in North Dakota was carrying a large line of samples of candy and sugar, and it was necessary for him to drive across country with a team between towns. The driver and the traveler noticed that a good many bees were about. Arriving at his destination the traveler visited a prospective customer. He opened up the sample case and was astonished to find about 200 bees at work on the candy and other sweets. The bees were angry at the interruption, but nobody was hurt.

The "Thirteen" Superstition.

According to reliable authorities the popular superstition that attaches to the number 13 owes its origin to the story of "The Last Supper." For unreckoned centuries the superstition has been universal that if 13 persons sit down to a meal at the same table one of them will die before the year is out. This doubtless comes from the Biblical feast when Christ sat down at table with his 12 disciples.

Whether this was caused from the pressure of the sand from the outside, or because the wall in being built by sections, was not properly connected or jointed, we did not hear. Several men were at work at the time, and escaped harmless, with the exception of Mr. R. Doktor who was nearly buried under this mass of falling stone and dirt.

At the City Hotel meetings, held on Monday and Thursday evening, to make the necessary preparations for the "Fourth," the several committees previously appointed brought in satisfactory reports and it was resolved to proceed with the "Day." Hon. F. J. Littlejohn, of Allegan has been secured to deliver the oration, and Rev. H. Uiterwijk will be requested to make a short address in the Holland language. Ample preparation will be made for excursions on the Lakes. The Cornet Band has generously offered their during half of the day. The exclusive use of the—Square (why don't the Council give it some appropriate name) has been obtained, and stands and awnings will be erected to accommodate all. During the afternoon, the amusements for the day may be looked for. The display of fireworks in the evening will form a very attractive part of the festivities. WHAT YOU SAW 20 YEARS AGO

Orrin Clark, aged eleven years, son of Martin Clark, of this city, was killed last Monday afternoon, about five o'clock by the fast train on the C & W. M. railway.

He was on the Grand Haven railroad bridge, north of this place, fishing, in company with one other boy. They were about six hundred feet from the north end. When the boys saw the train coming from the north one of them crawled under the bridge but Orrin was afraid and began running south to save himself. When 200 feet from the boy, the engineer saw him and immediately reversed his engine and applied the air brakes, but the boy stumbled and fell, the pilot of the engine striking and throwing him in the middle of the track. The engine and one coach passed over him before the train stopped.

Schecker of Milwaukee and Miss Anna Breyman of the city. The attendance was limited to the immediate relatives, and the bridal couple took the afternoon train for Chicago and thence to St. Louis.

WHAT YOU SAW 10 YEARS AGO
Mrs. Dirk Miedema died suddenly of heart failure last Friday afternoon.

The East Saugatuck creamery of C. J. Lokker & Co., owners of the Crystal Creamery of this city was burned last night. Cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at $2,000 with $1,500 insurance. A new creamery will be built at once.

Albert J. Koning one of Holland's well known young men, and Mary Angeline White of Saugatuck were married at the residence of the bride parents last Wednesday evening in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives who tendered them many beautiful and valuable presents. They came to Holland yesterday morning and will make this city their permanent home. Mr. and Mrs. James Koning Miss Nellie Koning, John Albers, Mr. and Miss Richard Vander Haar, Mr. Al Toppen and Mr. Fred Koning from this city attended the wedding. After July 1st Mr. and Mrs. Koning will be at home to their friends at 305 West Thirteenth street.

When you suffer horribly from catarrh and are constantly sniffing and snuffing, hawking and spitting, and doing other disgusting things, remember there is a certain cure, called, Hyomei, (pronounced High-o-me), which is guaranteed to cure.

Hyomei will give joyful relief to any catarrh sufferer in five minutes and it gives remarkable relief to consumptives.

Hyomei is medicated air prepared from the extracts taken from the giant eucalyptus trees of inland Australia, where catarrh or consumption is never known.

You breathe in this healing and antiseptic air through an inhaler and this air, with its peculiar soothing properties, passing over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane (for catarrh is a germ disease) kills the germ, allays the inflammation, and in a short time completely cures the disease.

A complete Hyomei outfit, which includes a hard rubber inhaler that will last a life time, and a bottle of Hyomei, cost only $1.00 extra bottles cost 50 cents. Sold by leading druggists every where and in Holland by Walsh Daug Co., who guarantee it on the money back plan.

Non-observance of Flag Day

Monday was the one hundred and thirty second birthday of the American flag, and although the day was observed in our public schools and college, something that should never be omitted, it was very noticeable that in the business and residence districts the national colors were conspicuous by their absence. The Relief Corps and G. A. R. of this city and other cities have been putting forth their efforts to secure the general observance of the day. The Daughters of the Revolution of this city observed the day by appropriate exercises. Why then should we men be so thoughtless in forgetting Old Glory for commercialism? We should set an example for our children instead of our children setting one us. Each child in our public schools came home with a little flag Monday and there is no doubt but that there were many like the father who asked his child what it was for. "Papa it is flag today." "Oh, that's so; forgot all about it." It was not his lack of patriotism that was responsible for the non-observance of the day, but pure thoughtlessness.

The history of the birth of the flag in the home of Betsy Ross, Philadelphia, should be repeated to our children and pictures of the place, which is still standing, where the flag was first made and hung out should be described and shown.

The evolution of our flag covers a long period in our history. It was the original idea to add a star and a stripe for each new colony. This was later abandoned and only stars were added. There were at first 13 stars and 13 stripes, now the official flag of the United States bears 48 stars and 13 stripes. The 13 stars were arranged in a circle. The official arrangement at present is in rows, the first, third, fourth and sixth rows have eight stars each and the other two rows seven stars each. The 48 stars represent the 48 states in the Union and the 13 stripes the original colonies.

A ceremony adopted by the Sons of the Revolution of the state of New York and which is now in general observance in all parts of the United States, which is to show proper respect for the flag, is as follows:

It should not be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset.

At "retreat," sunset, civilian spectators should stand at "attention" and uncover during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner. Military spectators are required by regulation to stand at "attention" and give the military salute.

When the national colors are passing on parade or in review, the spectators should, if walking, halt, and if sitting, arise and stand at attention and uncover.

When the flag is flown at half staff, as a sign of mourning it should be hoisted to full staff at the conclusion of the funeral.

In placing the flag at half staff, it should first be hoisted to the top of the staff and then lowered to position, and preliminary to lowering from half staff it should be first raised to the top.

On Memorial day, the flag should fly at half staff from sunrise to noon and full staff from noon to sunset.

On flag day it should be at full staff, as on Independence day.

Grand Haven will vote on a $30,000 bonus for park improvements. We presume it is intended for the growth of its industrial trees.

When we read about prize fighters making fortunes in a night and then see the salaries paid our teachers for working five days a week for nine months in the year, we cannot help but realize there is something wrong somewhere.

Commencement Week at Hope College

Last night in Carnegie Hall were held the last of the exercises of a busy commencement week at Hope college. After a program of orations and music Dr. Kollen formerly presented the class of 1909 and the "A" class of the preparatory department with their diplomas which have been earned by four years of work in the college. In giving the diplomas, in behalf of the council and the faculty, Dr. Kollen admonished best pianists, played two difficult selections, the "Etude in D flat" by Liszt and "Ballade No. 3 in A flat" by Chopin her work showing talent of a high degree. Miss Vera Van Hess sang an "Ave Maria" by Bach Gounod, Miss Coleman playing an obligato on the violin. The program closed with a piano duet, "Radiuse" by Gottschalk, played by the Misses Nellie Veneklassen and Anno Bos of Zeeland and was a fitting end to a program of so high a grade.

California. The discovery of the Professor's mistake gives rise to numerous laughable incidents.

The other numbers of the program were highly entertaining. The opening feature was a mandolin duet by Harris Meyer and Cornelius Vos who were accompanied on the piano by Arthur Heusinkveld. Rev. M. Moerdyke then pronounced the invocation. In presenting the program of the evening to the audience Martin Verberg made a neat speech telling of the plans and progress of the Mel-only. But man, not content with a mere animal existence must exercise those divine qualities which are essential factors in every conquest over the world in every sphere of action. The desire to overcome the world becomes the true test of the character of the individual and he who has the strongest desire in this particular line is the one most truly born of God. But to be filled with this desire requires the exercise of a divine quality, faith. Faith has always been the main spring to human action. It has accomplished more than any other quality and is a requisite in all spheres of life—scientific, religious and material.

The illustration of Columbus discovering a new world through faith was very apt. The speaker pointed out the fact that no faith has ever been which did not have some theological conception. When anyone imbued with religious faith and a firm belief in Christ as the son of God seeks to assert his divine origin by a conquest over the world, his activities will be directed toward the betterment of mankind, the uplifting of humanity.

To the Seniors, the sermon carried a message very well adapted to the needs of those who are about to begin their conquest over the world. It seemed that no more appropriate theme could have been selected to inspire those who are entering upon the paths of difficulty that must be trod in every walk of life.

Exercises of the "A" Class

Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock occurred the class day exercises of the "A" class of the Preparatory Department. Carnegie Hall in which the exercises were held was appropriately decorated with plants and flowers. Upon the playing of the Processional, "Grand Marche De Concert," Wollenhaupt by Miss Maude VanDreezer the members of the class marched into the hall and after they had taken their places Rev. A. Vanden Berg offered the invocation.

Prof. Nykerk presented the program to the audience and stated that much credit for the program was due to Miss Ethlyn Metz, formerly a student at Hope and a graduate of the Department of Elocution of Northwestern University, who has given much time to training the members of the class in their various parts.

A vocal duet, "Beyond" by St. Quentin, was sung with excellent effect by Frank Kleinheksel and John H. Hyma. This was followed by "Class Reminiscences," a history of the class divided in three periods, ancient, mediaeval and modern, which touched upon the prominent incidents in the life of the class which was just completing four years of work. The paper was prepared by Miss Jennie Wolfert and Miss Zora Barnaby and was very well read by Miss Wolfert.

Following a very pleasing piano solo, "Intermezzo" by Nevin, played by Miss Julia E. Britton came the class oration delivered very effectively by Gerritt DeMotts, who chose for his subject "The Duty of the American Citizen." The speaker broadened his theme by showing that it is the duty of the American of today to see that the public mind is enlightened so that it may wrestle with the problems that must soon come before it for decision.

A pleasing feature of the program was the class prophecy which was delivered in dialogue by Aleck Van Bronkhorst and Harry C. Kremers. The speakers imagined themselves transported into the middle of the century and mentioned in their conversation the condition of their classmates at that time. Some were rich some poor, some were politicians and senators others ministers. Some were school teachers. Many of the girls were farmers' wives and many of the boys of course farmers. Others of the girls were the wives of ministers or missionaries in foreign lands. Some unfortunately were old maids and a few of the boys were bachelors.

The Class play, "The Courtship of Miles Standish" by Longfellow, was presented in seven scenes, the explanatory matter for each scene being read by the Misses Margaret Muller, Bessie R. Wiersema, Deborah H. Veneklassen, Cora Ver Meulen, Fannie Kooiker and Delia M. Ossewaarde. The characters were taken by Martin Verburg, John Vruwink, Agnes S. Visscher, Cornelius De Young, Wietse Stegenga, Henry J. Pyl, William Moerdyk, B. Vander Woude, W. Leenhouts, H. C. Kremers and Harry Tellman.

The play was very well carried out with special scenery rendering it most effective. John Vruwink, Agnes Visscher and M. Ver Berg, who took the principal parts were at their best and succeeded in throwing themselves into the spirit of the play. Mr. Vruwink took the part of John Alden, Mr. Ver Berg was Miles Standish, the Captain of Plymouth, while Miss Visscher was Priscilla, the Puritan maiden.

The closing feature of the exercises was "Pantomime in Song" by Miss Anna C. Warnshuis. With a large American flag draped about her Miss Warnshuis assumed the most graceful poses to interpret the song "America" which was sung by Frank Kleinheksel and John Hyma.

The graduates number forty five the following named being members of the class: Minnie Beld, Edward Boeve, George W. Bonte, Julia E. Brittain, Clarence Dame, Cornelius De Young, Gerritt De Motts, Aeneas G. De Young, George G. Heneveld, John H. Hyma, Jennie Immink, Frank D. Kleinheksel, Fannie Kooiker, Harry C. Kremers, William Leenhouts, William J. Moerdyk, Margaret Muller, Bert Naberhuis, Lewis Niewold, Delia M. Ossewaarde, Lea Z. Partridge, Jeannette E. Pas, Henry J. Pyl, Pierre A. Rigaud, Marie D. Schaberg, George Schuil-ling, Frank Smith, Wietse Stegenga, Harry D. Tellman, Aleck Van Bronkhorst, Richard J. Vanden Berg, Berend Vander Woude, Maude Van Dreezer, Jacob F. Van Dyke, Bertha Van Kolken, Deborah H. Veneklassen, Martin Verburg, Cora Vermeulen, Agnes S. Visscher, Clara A. Voorhorst, Anna C. Warnshuis, Bessie R. Wiersema, Jennie Wolfert, John Vruwink, Pres., Zora Izzeta Barnaby, Sec. and Treas.

Honor Mrs. Gilmore

Monday evening an event occurred on the campus, which, although it does not necessarily fall under the "Commencement week" caption, is nevertheless interesting to everyone who is in sympathy with the excellent work accomplished by Mrs. Gilmore during the many years in which she has been dean of the Woman's department of the college. Mrs. Gilmore's resignation takes effect this week.

Mrs. Gilmore was surprised on entering the big dining room to find elaborate decorations upon the tables and about the walls. After a short musical program which followed dinner Mrs. Gilmore was presented with a handsome copper chafing dish and a large jardiniere. The presentation speech, which was made by the graduates to strive always to uphold the name of their alma mater.

The exercises of the week were marked by large crowds. Every meeting that was held in Carnegie Hall taxed the big gymnasium to its utmost capacity. Guests came from far and near to attend the exercises. There were members of the council, members of the alumni, guests of graduates and hosts of friends of the college present at the crowning event of the year in college life. Today all are leaving and not until commencement time next year will Holland witness so significant a feature in college history.

The events of the week that led up to the exercises of last night are herein set forth in chronological order.

School of Music Recital

The first event leading up to the close of the work of the past year at Hope College was the closing recital of the College School of Music, which was held Thursday evening in Winant's Chapel. Fully 500 people attended crowding the chapel to its utmost capacity. The greater part of the audience was made up of local music lovers but many were present from Grand Rapids, Zeeland, Saugatuck and other neighboring places.

Standing upon the beautifully decorated platform, where artistically arranged flowers, palms, vines, beautiful hanging baskets and ferns made a perfect bower of beauty, Miss Mae Van Dreezer and Mr. Campbell, accompanied by Miss Anna Schuelke, opened the program singing the beautiful duet, "La ci Darem la Mano" from Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

Miss Clara Coleman one of Miss Conlon's Grand Rapids pupils played the difficult first movement from the De Beriot Ninth Concerto in a most artistic manner. Miss Dorothy Parr followed this with the Mendelssohn "Spinnerlied" and Moszkowski "Valse brillante" rendering both effectively. Miss Melvina Moerdyke of Zeeland pleasingly contributed two numbers by A. Goring Thomas, "The Vikings Daughter" and "Hearts Fancies."

Little six-year-old Alfred Koons of Grand Rapids, the child violinist, played "Nocturne" by Hollander, and "Traumerei" by Schumann with a depth of tone, accuracy of intonation and perfection of bowing little short of marvelous in one of his years. The little golden haired fellow captivated his audience as much by his unconscious winning way as by his remarkable playing.

Miss Jennie Brouwer sang "Si Mi Chiamano Mimi" by Puccini in a charming manner. Miss Cornelia Koning of Saugatuck played "Night-ingle" by Nevin and "Valse Caprice" and showed excellent finish. Miss Helene Keppel who was at her best sang "Song of Sunshine" in her usual excellent style, captivating her hearers. This was followed by another selection from Miss Coleman who displayed considerable talent in her rendition of "Cavatina" by Bohn. Miss Ebba Clarke, one of Holland's

The audience was well pleased with the work of those who came from Grand Rapids to assist with the program. The work of the local musicians was also very much appreciated and none who heard them could fail to see that rapid strides are being made in the conservatory.

The plans for the ensuing year are elaborate. The lovers of vocal music will be delighted to hear that Mr. Campbell will conduct an opera phonians as a society. He was followed by John Vruwink who made a hit with a humorous recitation. Clarence Dame delivered the oration of the evening.

The Junior Quartette appeared on the program with its usual success being encoered and applauded heartily. Gerritt De Motts delivered a pleasing recitation which was followed by a well constructed budget prepared by Herman Stegeman. After Remarks by President Kollen, or oratorio here in Holland next year, something like "Queen Esther," only better. The chorus of 75 to 100 voices is about completed. The lady voices in the various city choirs will augment the student chorus, and as many of the best male voices will be added as may be necessary. Mr. Campbell has the reputation of being one of the best chorus conductors in the state and this is sufficient to guarantee the success of the undertaking.

MRS. GILMORE, RETIRING DEAN OF THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT

Besides this excellent feature of next year's work Professor Nykerk promises to present a fine faculty recital in Winant's Chapel next September.

Meliphone Society Program

On Friday evening the Meliphone society entertained the public at the closing meeting of the year. The program that was rendered was intensely interesting to the large audience that filled Carnegie hall to hear the exercises of the big "Prep" society.

The feature of the entertainment was the presentation of a two act farce "The Millionaire Janitor." The characters were taken by the following members of the society: Aleck Bronkhorst, Jacob J. Althuis, Wietse Stengenga, Leon C. Bosch, John Tillema, Henry J. Pyl and Miner Stegenga. The story of the play in brief was as follows:

Herman Schmaltz, an old German, is the janitor of a boys' boarding school. Prof. Flogg, the principal of the school is led to believe that the janitor is the heir to an estate and title in the fatherland, and treats him accordingly, promoting him etc., but the real baron is found in

"The Millionaire Janitor" consumed the remainder of the evening.

Baccalaureate Address

On Sunday evening in Hope church Rev. John M. Van der Meulen preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class. The large crowd that turned out to hear the address packed the church, filling chairs in the outside aisles, many people being compelled to stand.

The choir singing impressively "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," entered the church promptly at 7:30 o'clock followed by President Kollen, Rev. Van der Meulen and Rev. H. E. Dosker of Louisville, Ky., who took their places on the platform. The twenty-two graduates followed by the members of the faculty entered and took their places in the seats which were reserved for them.

Palms and lemon lilies decorated the platform. After an anthem by the choir, Dr. Kollen read the scriptures and Rev. Dosker led in prayer. During the offertory Miss Estelle Kollen, who has just returned from a year's study in New York, sang an artistic solo, "Abide With Me" by Liddle.

Rev. Vander Meulen then delivered one of the best baccalaureate sermons heard in Holland for years, using as his theme "Victory over the World" drawing it from John 15:4-5. In the course of his sermon Rev. Vander Meulen remarked that the divine origin of humanity was attested by the fact of a man's ambition to approach the infinite, to conquer the world. In this he differs from the rest of the organic world which strives for existence

STONE STEPS DONATED BY SENIOR CLASS

Miss Jennie Pikaart was, in part, as follows: "Mrs. Gilmore, we wish to thank you for all you have done for the students who were here before us and especially for the influence you have had on our lives. We appreciate every effort you have put forth to make everything pleasant for us; we know you have made many sacrifices for the college and for us and we wish to thank you for it. But most of all we wish to express our gratitude for the example you have set by your pure, unselfish Christian life. You have had a silent influence on our lives which I believe we shall carry with us wherever we go. We shall never forget you and we trust you never will forget us. And now on behalf of the young men who come in daily contact with you here, of Prof. Patterson and the girls of the dormitory we wish to present you with a few tokens in appreciation of all that you have done for us and for Hope college."

Ufilas Program

That there is nothing more lasting or bound to last than the Dutch language was again shown last Monday night when the Dutch Theatians climbed upon the spacious stage in Carnegie Hall and kept the undivided attention of a large audience for more than two hours.

Arthur Huisinkvelt played a piano solo, and Rev. Lunkes of the Fourth Reformed church of this city offered prayer. Then the president of the "Wooden Shoe" society, M. Hoffman, stated in a few words the purpose of the meeting, thanked Prof. Raap for the efficient help rendered to the society and introduced the first speaker, H. Schut who pleasingly rendered a rather long and solid but intensely dramatic recitation "De Wenksteking." This was followed by one of the choice bits on the program, the Dutch dialogue, which affords so many instances of side splitting laughter and unbounded humor that it even charms those, to whom the Dutch language is but an unintelligible lingo. "Woerd en Daad" was the title of this dialogue, J. Heemstra and E. Van der Laan being the stars of the dramatic personae.

The oration, "Mornix Van St. Aldegard" by A. Lomon, told the story of the hero of Antwerp, while J. Verburg's "Mengelmoes" or budget was a great success. It brought the audience in a fit mood to listen to the dialogue entitled, "Ooms Nalatenschap." "Ike" Van Westenbrug, the uncle millionaire, over hears the conversation of his six nephews who are delighted to hear of their uncle's supposed illness, and who hope soon to divide the inheritance. "Ike" promptly disinherits the youngsters. Van Westenbrug brilliantly played the roll of the old uncle, his wheezings and coughings and bent form lending an aspect of reality to the whole.

This was the 22nd annual public meeting of the Ufilas society and both the audience and the members of the society showed that whatever may change on Hope's campus, the interest in the Dutch language is rather on the increase than on the wane.

Dedication of Stone Steps

The dedicatory services which were held at the stone steps, donated to the college by the class of '09 were very impressive. A large crowd gathered at the steps just north of the gymnasium at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday to witness the formal dedication.

After a prayer by Rev. Peck of Japan, Milton J. Hoffman, president of the class made the presentation speech saying in part: "Every student looks forward with anticipation to graduation day, the crowning day in college life. The members of the Senior class worked hard under the able leadership of Professor Vander Meulen to make the play 'Under the Spell' a success. But of all the good results of this work there are none more gratifying to the class than the giving of this gift to the college. These steps signify the upward trend of every life to something higher and I believe that in the years to come many more remembrances will be left to old Hope by graduating classes."

Closing with a tribute to the student body, to the alumni, to the council and to Dr. Kollen in particular, Mr. Hoffman formally dedicated the steps by putting in its place the copper plate with the inscription, "Presented by 1009 Senior Class."

Dr. Kollen, then, in an inspiring address paid a glowing tribute to the members of the senior class saying, "If the pieces that make up the whole were counted their number would about equal the number of those in the graduating class. But like the members of the class the different pieces are all cemented together making of the many, one. The steps are to be appreciated, but the loyalty of the class to the administration is more to be remembered."

The Raven Oratorical Contest

Immediately after the dedication of the stone steps a large audience gathered in Winants chapel to hear the annual Raven prize oratorical contest. As this contest was combined with the February contest the winner will represent Hope next year in the Intercollegiate contest at Lansing. After the invocation by Rev. J. Vennema of Passaic, N. J., the contest began. Chairman Pasma calling Rev. J. Gebhard of New York to preside.

Mr. Verhulst who received the first prize of $30, took as his subject "The Evolution of Citizenship." His theme was replete with patriotism. "Man in his first state was both citizen and king," said the speaker, "but after the fall of man the struggle has ever been toward that ideal state. Today, in our own beloved land, we see again the race coming to its own, for man here is both citizen and king." Mr. Verhulst reviewed the problems of the age and in well chosen language pointed out the duties of citizenship. "As enlightened men," he said "be just to those below you; as citizens, fight and vote for ideal government; as men demand personal purity in yourself and others. All these things can be accomplished here because in America man is both citizen and king." Mr. Verhulst has a strong effective delivery and will prove a worthy representative in next year's contest.

"America's Hope for the Future" by J. Heemstra, '10, which took the second prize of $20 was excellent both in thought and delivery. The keynote of the whole was apparent in the opening sentence—"America's hope for the future lies in the American people." The people must be upright, they must seek the welfare of all, they must not allow the chase for fortune to usurp the place of civic duty, they must obey the law, they must even make the law. Mr. Heemstra has a strong voice and excellent personality and will no doubt some day be of use to the nation in a life of action such as he advocated.

The third honors were taken by E. VanderLaan, '11, who delivered in excellent style an able oration on "The Public Duty of the Educated Man." He pointed out the fact that the country expends annually $307,000,000 for educational purposes and as this money is a social investment America has a right to expect a good return for it. The educated man should make this return by vigilance at the polls and at the caucus as well; by keeping alive a general interest in public affairs and moulding public sentiment.

The other orators, Hessel Yntema, '12; Anthony Luidens, '12, and Nelson Dalenberg, '10, delivered strong orations. Mr. Yntema chose for his subject "Honesty and Loyalty" developing it well and exhibiting rare latent oratorical talent which can be brought out by careful training. Mr. Luidens who talked on William McKinley presented his theme well and showed careful preparation in delivery, portraying the life and work of the martyred president in a touching way. Nelson Dalenberg who spoke on "A Brighter Tomorrow," made a strong plea for America's brighter tomorrow from the standpoint of American mothers.

The musical numbers were a piano solo by Miss Anna Schuelke and a vocal solo by Miss Kathryn Pessink. These were very well received, Miss Pessink being compelled to respond to an encore.

While waiting for the decision of the judges short speeches were made by Rev. Gebhard and Congressman Diekema. The judges were George P. Hummer, Grand Rapids; Dr. A. Vennema, Passaic, N. J., Henry Pelgrim, Dr. Merson and Rev. G. Dubink of Holland.

The Alumni Banquet

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock several hundred of Hope's alumni gathered in Carnegie hall to attend the annual alumni banquet. There were men and women present from all parts of the world gathered around the festive board to renew again the days of old Hope. Old and young were there, the class of '79 was represented by two of its members and the class of '09, just ready to enter the ranks of Hope's alumni, were there in cap and gown.

After a half hours reception, consumed with handshakings and the renewals of "auld" acquaintances, the members of the alumni sat down to do full justice to an elaborate spread faultlessly served by members of the student body.

Following the banquet proper excellent toasts were responded to by several members of the alumni. Pres. Geerlings of the alumni association proving himself a lively toastmaster. Among those who spoke were Rev. Vennema '79, Rev. Dosker '76, Prof. Kuizenga, Prof. Vander Meulen, Dr. Kollen and Congressman Diekema. Besides these features several musical numbers were rendered.

After several hours of enjoyment and inspiring sentiments regarding their college the guests departed, singing just before leaving the long meter doxology. All present reported an enjoyable time and are more determined than ever to attend every such meeting in the years to come.

Prep. Alumni Banquet

On Tuesday evening about 100 of the alumni of the Preparatory school of Hope college attended the banquet in Van Raalte hall.

The Junior quartet of the college contributed a few selections after which Attorney C. H. McBride, the toastmaster of the evening introduced Attorney Myron H. Walker of Grand Rapids who gave a splendid talk on "Tendencies of the times." He was followed by W. C. Crane, superintendent of the public schools of Franklin, Texas, who spoke in place of Dr. Leenhouts who was unable to attend. Miss Sena Koiker told of her work among the Mountain Whites of Kentucky after which Jas. Dykema sang a solo. Dr. J. G. Huizinga of Grand Rapids spoke interestingly on "Civic Obligations" and the program closed with music by the quartet.

Among those present was Dr. E. Hoffman of Grand Rapids. Officers of the Prep. Association are pres., J. F. Trompen, Grand Rapids; vice pres., H. Luidens of this city; sec., Dr. J. G. Huizinga; treas., W. Westveer of this city.

Commencement

Last of all came the commencement exercises last night in Carnegie hall. As soon as the audience had taken seats the graduates of the Preparatory department led by Prof. Nykerk and followed by the Senior class, the council and members of the faculty entered singing the "Hope College Processional," taking seats on the platform.

The invocation was offered by Rev. A. L. Warnshuis of China and Dr. Kollen, who presided, immediately announced the opening oration, "The Man Who Wins" by Victor Blekkink. He delivered an especially pleasing production saying in part, that although the world is filled with failures in business and professional life, the man who wins is the man who has the courage to seize upon the value of his opportunity, who has a capacity for hard work to a definite purpose and who is filled with a desire to do good for his fellows.

The next oration was "Education for Efficiency" by Isaac Van Westenburg. It was filled with good common sense and sound advice and Mr. Van Westenburg created a very favorable impression upon the audience. He cited the Russo Japanese war as an instance where education made for efficiency. "But this efficiency must be well balanced, he went on to say, in head, hand and heart. It must be moral as well as industrial. Business is business but not without morality, and efficiency can make for evil as well as good. Napoleon was efficient but he was the scourge of Europe. The final aim of education is for efficiency in character."

Miss Hilda Stegeman followed this with an oration on "Undying Youth," a very creditable production well delivered. He who would remain young in spirit though old in years should care for his physical well being. He should contemplate only the beautiful, the pleasant, the pure and the agreeable in life; should mingle with young people; should keep in touch with life about him and be interested in all things that interest others. "In other words," said Miss Stegeman, "be not too conservative. Be vigorous."

Miss Estelle M. Kollen then sang a beautiful solo "Over the Heather" in a captivating manner. The next oration was by Teunis E. Gouwens on "The Secret of Contentment." "True happiness," said the speaker in closing a well written speech, "satisfies the immortal soul. For the attainment of such happiness I have three brief suggestions to make. The proverb tells us 'Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and this is the first. The second is 'Do good.' The third, 'have faith in God and in a life hereafter.'"

This was followed by an oration by Milton Hoffman whose subject was "Difficulties, the Dynamics of Progress." "Shun not the struggle. Think not lightly of life's conflicts. Regard them as heavens choicest blessings. From your struggles you will grow strong; they are stepping stones towards the attainments of your highest ideals. You will not then need to ask whether life is worth living—you will make it so. You will transform the sordid struggle for existence into a glorious effort to become that which you have admired and loved."

After the award by Dr. Kollen of diplomas, honorary degrees and prizes, Miss Helene Keppel sang two selections "A River Dream" by Goring Thomas and "A Birthday" by Cowen. This was followed by the Valedictory "A Study in Revolution" by Wynand Wichers. Mr. Wichers spoke, not of war but of a revolution of the soul,—of the forces within, the mental and moral faculties. "The revolution of the soul is a never ceasing struggle," said he. "Sometimes the conflict is fierce and the sea is lashed into fury. Now the storm lulls and a short period of calm settles on the ocean. Once more the roll of the billows puts the soul in awe before its Creator. When again the sunlight bathes its smooth surface But the struggle is on. It is the transition from darkness to light. The goal of the souls revolution is a redeemed and perfected humanity."

Diplomas were awarded to the following: Victor William Blekkink, Holland, Mich., Herman De Witt, Holland, Mich., John Albert Dykstra, Grand Rapids, Mich., Teunis E. Gouwens, South Holland, Ill., Grace Hazenberg, Holland, Mich., Henry John Heusinkveld, Fulton, Ill., Milton Jay Hoffman, Overisel, Mich., Arend Teunis Laman, Muskegon, Mich., Hans John Meinders, Grand Rapids, Mich., Peter Henry Pleune, Grand Rapids, Mich., Henry George Roost, Holland, Mich., Henry Rottschaefer, Holland, Mich., Henry Schüt, Alton, Iowa, Hilda Cornelia Stegeman, Holland, Mich., Abraham John Van Houten, Grand Rapids, Mich., David VanStrien, Grand Rapids, Mich., Cora Genevieve Van Valkenberg, Fennville, Mich., Isaac Van Westenburg, Grand Rapids, Mich., Emma Louise Warnshuis, Holland, Mich., Wynand Wichers, Zeeland, Mich., John Wolterink, Hamilton, Mich.

Fifteen of the graduates received State teachers certificates, and each one was presented with a handsome bible by Gerard Beekman of New York City.

Honorary degrees of D. D. were given to Evert J. Blekkink of Holland, Rev. John M. Van der Meulen of Holland and Rev. Alfred De Witt Mason of New York.

The following prizes were awarded. The Geo. Birkhoff Jr., English prize of $25 for the best essay on "John Milton" to John Wichers.

The Geo. Birkhoff Jr., prize of $25 for the best essay in the Holland language on "Jacob Van Linnen" to Henry Schutt.

The Mrs. Samuel Sloan foreign mission prize of $25 for the best essay on "John G. Paton" went to Emil O. Schuurman.

The Henry Bosch prize for examinations in grammar and orthography of $15 went to Dorothy Peters and the second prize was divided equally between Leonard Yntema and Elsie Fairbanks.

The J. C. Ackerman debating prize of $50 was divided equally between Verne Oggel and Henry Rottschaefer and the A. C. Raven prize in oratory was given to A. Verhulst and Jacob Heemstra first and second respectively.

The audience arose and sang the doxology and after receiving the benediction left the hall bringing the forty-fourth annual commencement week of Hope college to a close.

H-O-P-E

The new college song introduced by the Fraternal Society at their annual banquet appears here. The music for the song was written by A. Judson Kolyn and the words by Henry K. Pasma.

Far toward the west from Macatawa
Where the sun and roaming billows meet
O'er the deepest blue of yon calm water
Beams of gold come dancing to our feet.
Heaven and sea are steeped in gorgeous luster
And before the stars their eyes shall open
The golden wane and purple main
Are trembling with the colors of old Hope.

Chorus.
In that dear old town Holland, Michigan by
The inland sea,
Stands Hope College O how we wish again
ever there to be.
Alma Mater loyal true we will ever be to you
When we're old our song this still will be H-O-P-E.

Now whenever pressed by thirst for knowledge
Youth and maiden long for ancient lore
Day dreams of some fairer enchanted college
Rise and visions born from Fancy's store
Tell me dreamer why now wait and waver
Yours are not the days to aimless grope.
Fair as a star Beck'ning from far
Lo yonder stands the college of your Hope

Here rise friendships altars ever glowing
Hope has breathed them into hallowed flame.
Here are friendship ties that stronger grow
Weave within their strands Hope's noble name.
Pass away ye hills of Macatawa
'Neath the wave sink dune and verdant slope
Through all our days We still shall praise
The day when first we saw the walls of Hope

Hope College News

Last Thursday evening the Cosmopolitan society of Hope college elected officers for the fall term of 1909 as follows: president, Jacob Heemstra, vice-president, Arie Te Paske, secretary and treasurer, Emil O. Schwitters, singing master, Wm. Stronks, keeper of archives, Arie Van Arendork, janitor, Ed. Hui-bregts. The past year has been a most successful one in the history of the society.

John W. Van Zanten, a student in the New Brunswick Theological seminary preached in Hope church last Sunday morning. Mr. Van Zanten will assist Dr. J. G. Fagg, pastor of the Middle Collegiate church of New York City this summer.

Since in our last issue in the item about the Cosmopolitan society a mistake crept in, some explanation is needed. The statement should read The Cosmopolitan society, the only literary society of Hope college origin. The omission of the word origin caused some embarrassment.

The Senior class of Hope College was entertained at the home of Miss Kathryn M. Pessink, a former member of the class. Games were played after which a delicious supper was served. Following the supper a program of music was enjoyed.

SUMS LOST BY CARELESSNESS

Estimated That Half a Million Dollars in Greenbacks is Destroyed Every Year.

The secretary of the United States treasury estimates that about half a million dollars' worth of money is destroyed in our country every year by one means or another. The money disappears in very odd ways. For example, an Indiana woman complained of the loss of a $20 bill which had gotten into a dish of dandelion greens. It was chopped up and eaten by the unconscious family and the loss was discovered only when the corner of the bill was found among the greens left over in the dish.

A large quantity of greenbacks is eaten up every year by rats. Sometimes the rodents leave remnants so that the bills can be redeemed, but often they take the money in its entirety. One specially odd case reported was where a robin engaged in the laudable enterprise of nest building, flew into a window and bore away in its bill a $100 bill which had been left on a table, using the soft texture for the nest. Enough of the greenback was recovered to warrant its redemption.

FELT REPARATION WAS DUE

Impulsive But Repentant Cowboy Would Respect Last Wishes of the Deceased.

A young Bostonian went to Texas and turned cowboy. He rapidly caught the spirit of the country and as rapidly shook off the outward semblance of tender-footed eastern habit. Rough-bearded, leather-clad, sombrero as wide as the widest, 42-caliber Colts on his hips, he was as wild as the wildest. Yet within his bosom still burned the flame of Boston culture and refinement. One day he was riding with a stranger across the prairie. Turning his head suddenly (he was slightly ahead) he saw his companion make a suspicious motion toward his hip-pocket. Without hesitation he drew his revolver and shot him. The stranger dropped like a log. The cowboy dismounted and looked at the body of his victim. "I wonder if he was really going to shoot me?" he soliloquized; "I'll see." Turning the body over, he discovered a flask of whisky protruding from the pocket. "Poor fellow!" he said, in a tone of regret; "I've made a mistake. I've killed an innocent man and a gentleman at that. He wasn't going to shoot me; he was going to invite me to have a drink. Well," he sighed, drawing his sleeve across his mouth, "the last wishes of the deceased shall be respected."

Dorking, Where Meredith Lived.

The neighborhood of Dorking has many literary associations independent of its connection with the famous novelist just dead. It was at Burford Bridge, near Dorking, that Keats completed "Endymion," in November, 1817; close by, at the Rookery, was born Father Malthus, the population economist; and at West Humble Frances Burney, after her marriage with General Arblay, built Camilla cottage with profits of her novel of that name, and settled down. Sheridan resided at Polesden, and John Stuart Mill at Mickleham, while other illustrious residents in the locality in earlier times were John Evelyn and Daniel Defoe. To most people, however, the chief literary association of Dorking is with Dickens, for was it not at the Marquis of Granby—variously identified with the White Hart and the Old King's Head—that Mr. Weller, Sr., made the fatal blunder of proposing to a "vidder?"—Westminster Gazette.

Book Friends.

Men who are most observant as to the friends they make, or the conversation they join in, are carelessness itself as to the books to whom they intrust themselves and the printed language with which they saturate their minds. Yet can any friendship or society be more important to us than that of books which form so large a part of our minds and even of our characters? Do we in life take any pleasant fellow to our homes and chat with some agreeable rascal by our fireside, we who will take up any pleasant fellow's memoirs, we who delight in the agreeable rascal when he is cut up into pages and bound into calf?—Frederic Harrison.

What He Meant.

Nathan Straus, discussing the absurd difficulties that confront sanitists in their endeavor to pass laws compelling the pasteurization of milk, said:

"The legislators who oppose this law bring forward arguments about as weak as that of the Maine milkman."

"A lady, summing in Maine, said to her milkman severely:

"Look here, this milk of yours is half water and half chalk. What do you mean by advertising it as pure?"

"Madam," said the milk manufacturer, with reproachful dignity, 'to the pure all things are pure.'"

Easy Money at Great Parisian Banks.

If you present a letter of credit at one of the great banks of Paris, like the Credit Lyonnais, an usher in livery receives you in a splendid parlor, like the salon of a palace, and bids you be seated in a sumptuous chair. Presently he brings you a check, made out for the amount you demand, for your signature. A quarter of an hour later he brings you the cash on a silver tray. You do not come in contact with the clerical force, or see the inner workings at all.

Keep The Kidneys Well

Healthis Worth Saving, and Some Holland People Know How to Sive It.

Many Holland people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Fred Kwatz, Sr., 221 Elliott street, Grand Haven, Mich., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be a valuable remedy for kidney complaint. I was bothered a great deal by disordered kidneys and the least cold I caught settled in these organs, making my back very lame. I had pains through my loins and the kidney secretions passed irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to give me relief when I have had an attack of this kind and consequently, I am pleased to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

DOG IN LONELY VIGIL ON MOUNT

MINERS SAY ANIMAL GUARDS SPOT WHERE MASTER LIES BURIED.

INSTANCE OF GREAT DEVOTION

Mysterious Volley of Shots Precedes Appearance of Beast, and Then Blizzard Covers the Scene with Heavy Snows.

Spokane, Wash.—Where the chill winds sweep and the snow-drifts form great overhanging ledges will break into slides with the approach of warm weather, a dog maintains its lonely vigil on the summit of a mountain in the Coeur d'Alene country near here.

Parties have searched the hills, but no one has solved the mystery of the animal's faithful watch. Enough is known, however, to justify the belief that the spot was the scene of a tragedy and that when the snow melts under the July sun an instance of a dog's devotion to its master, even unto death, will be recorded.

Frank Hathaway, a linotype operator employed at Wallace, Idaho, crossed the trail over the St. Joe divide returning from a hunting trip last fall, before the first snow. Passing through a heavy timber growth below the divide he heard a shotgun fired as fast as it could be loaded. Then a rifle chimed in. Forty shots were fired in rapid succession. Hathaway saw no one in the wild region, but spoke of the incident to M. Livingston, a prospector, living in a cabin several miles down the trail.

Livingston says he heard the plaintive howling of a dog coming from far up on the mountain that night. Again on the succeeding night the dog howled, and on the fourth night after the shooting a strange dog was seen skulking about Livingston's cabin in search of food. He fled at the prospector's approach, but meat left outside the shack disappeared during the night. Every night since the dog has been fed.

A few weeks after the shooting the first blizzard of the winter swept over the mountain, and after three days of storm the ground was left covered with six feet of snow. Still the lonely dog made trips to the cabin, each time returning to the mountain top. When snow had succeeded snow and the cold, clear weather of later January came, Livingston climbed the mountain to find the dog's hiding place. The animal's frequent trips made a trail which was plainly visible, and after trailing a mile above the cabin the dog was found lying in the shelter of a bush, making its bed in the snow. The animal fled at Livingston's approach, but returned when he departed.

Four months have elapsed since the dog began its vigil. It has remained at this one spot, sleeping in snow and ice and traveling down the steep mountainside for its food. Every man in Wallace believes that when July's sun clears away the snow covering the bleak height, the body of the dog's master will be uncovered.

Pig That Barks Like a Dog.

Saco, Me.—Fred M. Thim of this city, a well-known electrician and railroad man, has at his home in lower Beach street a pig that barks like a dog.

The black and white markings of the pig are much like a hound. Its ears also much resemble those of a hound in their size, shape and the way they hang.

Mr. Thim has had many visitors to see the animal and hear it bark. All say it is startling to hear such sounds come from a pig, and there is an impulse to jump.

Rattlesnake Guards House.

Winsted, Conn.—Instead of a bull dog in his front yard chained to a tree to keep away tramps and other unwelcome guests, Ed Harris of Scotland keeps a big, live rattlesnake in a box. The reptile has ten rattles and a "button." When any one approaches the house the snake rattles a warning. Harris catches rattlers alive.

BAND OF CHIMPANZEES ROUT SAILORS ON SHIP

ATTACK CHINESE COOK WHEN HE SPILLS CAN OF HOT SOUP OVER THEIR LEADER.

New York.—Six chimpanzees, part of a consignment of 600 members of the Simian tribe, were responsible for wounds and scars exhibited by the crew of the German steamship Tanenfels, which arrived from Calcutta and Colombo, and docked at South Brooklyn.

The monkeys were consigned to a local animal dealer, but at the earnest solicitation of Capt. Lubke were landed at Boston, where the vessel put in last week, and such as are wanted in this city will be shipped overland.

The trouble was precipitated one night in midocean, and was due to the enmity of the six chimpanzees for

"Wong Foo Ran for the Fo'castle, Yelling Like Mad."

Wong Foo, the cook, because he spilled a can of hot soup on the big leader.

"It was about 7:30 o'clock, just after supper," said Engineer Newman, "when we heard a scream, followed by a flow of Chinese language. Crouched in the raft lines of the fore-rigging was a monkey tugging at the end of the Chinaman's queue. The cook was swinging clear of the deck, kicking at the other five chimpanzees, which were attacking his legs. The crew rushed to the rescue; the chimpanzee let go the Chinaman's pigtail and made aft toward the midship house.

"Wong Foo ran for the fo'castle, yelling like mad, chased by the five chimpanzees, which were followed in turn by the seamen. Joined by two of my firemen, Hubert Hansen and Hans Fels, we rushed for a big fellow, which had taken refuge in the bos'n's locker. When we got inside we were suddenly attacked by the infuriated animal, and in the semi-darkness were completely at his mercy.

"He had seized a marlin spike, and as I reached out to take it from him I got this dig in the right wrist. We were all glad to give him a free passage out. He dashed through the door and leaped into the sea.

"Meanwhile the ship's crew captured the others. They had escaped by tearing away a slat."

DEAD MAN'S FACE ON PANE.

Remarkable Illusion Affects Widow and Daughter—Others Fail to See Image.

Reading, Pa.—The widow and one of the daughters of the late Oscar D. Angstadt of this city, who died last October, are much excited over the appearance, clear to their vision, of the picture of the dead man on a window pane in the room where he died. It first appeared to them on a recent Sunday and they called in some of the neighbors to look at it, but none but the widow and her daughter could see it.

Insistent that the face was plainly depicted on the pane, Mrs. Angstadt and her daughter the other day got Police Sergeant Cressman to examine the window, but he was obliged to admit that he could see nothing.

The women have washed the pane several times, but declare that the face is still visible there. They state that Mr. Angstadt, for several weeks before he died, used to lie in his bed and look through that window, and they believe that his face in some way became photographed there. They describe the image as resembling the negative of a photograph.

Hen Will Not Hatch Hawk Egg.

Bloomington, Ind.—A hen will not hatch an egg laid by a hawk, according to Chris Summit of Stineville, this county. He tried the experiment, he says, and failed.

One day Mr. Summit was out shooting crows on his farm, and while returning home saw a hawk sitting on her nest. He shot it and also dislodged the nest, with an egg in it almost ready to hatch.

Mrs. Summit placed the egg under a setting hen. In a short time she heard the hen shouting notes of warning to her brood, and at the same time picking at something in the nest.

DEATHS

Mrs. H. Balgogien, a former resident of this city, died Thursday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. Bosch in Zeeland. Deceased was 76 years old and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bakker, early pioneers of this community and who at one time ran the half way house at Port Sheldon. One brother, C. Bakker of Grand Rapids and two sisters, Mrs. H. Bosch of Zeeland and Mrs. A. Fliestra of Grand Rapids survive; also five grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Lane Van Patten, 112 W. 10th St. The remains were taken to Grand Haven for burial.

Mrs. Geo. Plaggamers, aged 37 years died at her home in Crisp Sun day after a long illness. A husband and three children survive. The funeral services were held yesterday morning from the Crisp church, Rev. Guikema officiating and at 2 p. m. from the Hardevyk church, Rev. Diephuis officiating. Interment was at Hardevyk.

J. D. Cochran, formerly of this city, died in a Chicago hospital Saturday evening, June 13 and the remains were brought here for burial. The funeral services were held Tuesday from the M. E. church, Rev. Merrill officiating. Interment was made in the Lake Shore cemetery. Deceased was 46 years old and is survived by his mother, wife, and one brother, Wilbur Cochran of Lake Shore.

Mrs. Jansje Scholten Mulder passed away at her home 77 West 10th street last evening at the age of 63 years 11 months and 10 days, death resulting from cancer with which she has been suffering for a long time. Deceased is survived by a husband and children.

Notes of Sport

On July 1 the Holland Athletic club will put up a boxing and wrestling show that promises to surpass anything put up since the organization of the club last winter. Two boxing bouts are scheduled which are to be followed by a wrestling match between the local wrestler Johnny Novik and Geo. Potter, the champion lightweight of Michigan. This title Potter secured when he defeated Floyd Cutcher of Saranac at that place last winter. The local lad is training hard for the event and hopes to wrest the championship from Potter. The first of the boxing bouts is a go between Kid Brocton and Jimmy O'Connor. These two lads put up a good exhibition at the first show of the club where they furnished the main attraction. They will fight at 128 pounds. The second bout will be between Bill Ossignac and George B. ocks who will weigh in at 160 pounds on the evening before the battle. Both bouts will go three rounds.

The Interurbans will play the Greulichs of Grand Rapids at Jensen Park Saturday. The Greulichs are a fast aggregation and the game promises to be interesting.

The Manhattans of Grand Rapids were defeated by the Holland Independents Saturday the score being 13 to 2. It was a sloppy affair, the Holland boys slamming the ball at will. Shaw of the Independents and Lerner and Benoway of the Manhattans were the opposing pitchers.

The Holland Independents will play the Ceresotas of Grand Rapids Saturday. The Ceresotas defeated the Independents two out of three games last season. This game promises to be fast and furious.

The Holland High School nine was shut out by the Allegan high school Saturday, 4 to 0. Whelan and Hooky were in the pitchers box. The game was snappy and fairly free from errors. Whelan held the Alleganders down to two hits but these coupled with a few errors were enough.

MR. JURGLETON HAS NOTICED PRIDE OF AMSTERDAM JEWS.

No Man, Young or Old, in a Stovepipe Hat, Ever Seen Carrying a Baby, He Declares.

"Did you ever," said Mr. Jurgleton, "see a man in a silk hat carrying an infant child? Never, I venture to say."

"You do see plenty of fathers, young fathers, mostly, carrying their babies, and very willing to carry them, indeed proud of their offspring; but you never see such a father in a tall hat. They may wear forty-seven other kinds of hats—derbies, soft hats, straw hats, or as many kinds of caps; but no father carrying an infant ever wears a silk hat."

"Of course there can't be any fashion decree about this. Refraining from wearing a silk hat on such occasions must be due just to instinctive common sense; the baby is an extremely informal thing, liable to scream or cry or wriggle or squirm at any minute, to bear itself in many ways in a manner quite incompatible with high hat dignity; and even young fathers seem to know this, and so they leave their stovepipe tiles on the shelf at home when they go out with the baby. They seem to know what is fitting instinctively; but you never see a man in a stovepipe hat carrying a baby."

ART IN OLD ENGLISH HOUSES

Beautiful Carving and Paneling That Had Long Been Concealed Is Discovered.

When a low range of buildings at Little Horkesley, Essex, England, which for a century and a half had been let in five separate tenements, came into the market and was bought by an owner who, having an eye for things old and curious, had the walls stripped, surprising discoveries were made. It was found that all five were really parts of one old Tudor house. Behind the whitewash and plaster and common wall paper were brought to light beautiful carving and paneling of the Tudor period. The doors were found to be of oak heavily studied with nails.

During the last summer the village church at Doddington, Kent, underwent that process known as "restoration," which in too many cases has spelled destruction, and in the course of the work the removal of a quantity of plaster led to the discovery of an unexpected lancet window of the thirteenth century, which had been blocked up for many generations.

The plays were well preserved, and the discoverers were rewarded not only by finding the arch of the lancet beautifully decorated with stars and roses, all in excellent preservation, but by the revealing on one of the splay of a noble figure of a monk, nearly seven feet high, portrayed in the act of giving the benediction.

Popularizing the Potato.

One of the most remarkable menus ever drawn up must have been that of the feast in Paris to which Benjamin Franklin, Lavoisier (the founder of modern chemistry) and other distinguished men sat down as guests of Parmentier. Every dish at this banquet was made of potatoes, and even the brandy and liquors were the product of the same vegetable. This was Parmentier's final proof to his skeptical fellow countrymen that potatoes were not poison, as they persisted in believing. Louis XVI. himself was one of Parmentier's earliest converts, granted him land on which to grow his plants and did not disdain to wear the potato flower as a buttonhole. Then Parmentier cleverly posted guards round his potato fields by day and withdrew them by night, so that people were tempted to come then, steal, eat and be convinced. The all-potato banquet was the climax of the great campaign.

Didn't Express It.

"There are many points about our machine, Mr. Fosdick," the agent was saying, "that you don't find in typewriters usually. For example, the whole line, as you write, is visible—by the way, Mr. Fosdick, have you ever had a visible typewriter in your office?"

The merchant looked absent-mindedly at the red-haired young woman with the green gown who was hammering away industriously on the morning correspondence in the outer room.

"Visible?" he said. "We have one that's more than visible—she's conspicuous."

Seasoning Lumber.

A workman was packing salt about a pile of timber. "Seasoning timber with salt, eh? It sounds like a joke, doesn't it?" he said. "It is often done, though, especially in ship timber. Ships built of salt-seasoned timber get a better insurance rate. Some very rich woods are seasoned in boiling oil. That's an ancient and costly process. A new dodge is electrical seasoning. With strong electric shocks the sap is driven out of the wood and replaced by a solution of borax and resin. The scheme is cheap; not half as good as salt."

Belgian Coal Miners.

While coal is mined at a greater depth in Belgium than in most countries, the number of miners killed in accidents is less in that country than in any other. For the ten-year period from 1891 to 1900 the number of fatalities per 10,000 workmen was 16.84 per annum. In the metallic-ore mines the number of workmen who have been killed by accident is one-third that in the coal mines.

Synagogue in That City, Built by Refugees, Is Easily the Finest in the World.

In the midst of the Jewish quarter stands the pride of Amsterdam Jews, the grandest synagogue in the world. It is "great" in everything, in its size, its proportion, its age and its traditions. There is no synagogue like it anywhere, and while it stands there cannot be anything like it.

The great temple in the Rue de la Victoire in Paris may perhaps be larger, the splendid synagogue in the Oranienburgerstrasse in Berlin may be more ornate, but the Portuguese synagogue in Amsterdam has a glory all its own. Its majestic columns, its solid oak, its noble ark and its lovely windows all speak eloquently of the type of Jew that sought the hospitality of Holland when the cruel and short-sighted policy of the Spain of those days drove the pioneers of the community into the hardy little northern country.

The history of the congregation is not, however, one unbroken record of peace and glory. Curiously enough, its early members, free themselves at last from persecution, seemed at times to make up for the persecution they had endured by their own internal intercommunal intolerance.

Their treatment of Uriel Acosta is a most painful chapter in their local history, and their attitude toward Baruch Spinoza was an error for which no compensation can ever be made. To the visitor to the synagogue is still shown the seat which Spinoza is supposed to have occupied, but the tradition is probably apochryphal.—Jewish Chronicle.

MALE "LADY OF THE HOUSE"

Not Uncommon for New York Boarding Places to Be Conducted by Men.

"A man acting as 'lady of the house' in a first-class boarding house was a distinct surprise to me," said a New York woman who has been trying to find a pleasant home for a friend from out of town. "In a single morning I came across two boarding houses where men were in charge. The first man was quite communicative and when I expressed my regret that I could not make arrangements with his wife instead of himself, he said:

"Oh, I run the place now. My wife died three years ago and rather than break up I took charge of it myself. People wanted to stay and it was easier to let things go on in the old way."

"The second man didn't have the same excuse, as he'd never had a wife. He'd been living in the same house for a good many years and when it was about to break up several years ago he took it over rather than give up his comfortable home. Incidentally he told me he was opening a small boarding house down at the seashore, which was easily reached by the elevated road, and that his guests could come down there for a week end and always feel at home. He laid no claims to being a hotel keeper—just a man who was playing 'landlady' in a boarding house."—New York Sun.

Where Church and Circus Meet.

"On one point at least the church and the circus touch common ground," said a clerk in the naturalization bureau. "Each member of a circus performer's family and each member of a country preacher's family claims a different birthplace. Very often families consisting of grown-up brothers apply for citizenship. In most cases they are poor people whose parents certainly could not afford to be globe trotters, and all the children were born in the same village or town. But once in a while I meet three or four or maybe five or six brothers each of whom has first seen the light in a different place. In a case of that kind my first question is:

"Parents in the circus?"

"Usually they were. If not, I guess again."

"Church?" I ask, and that time I hit it. Funny, isn't it, that of all institutions only the church and the circus produce professional wanderers?"

Melody on the Farm.

If you like music and pretty pictures, you can have them at your will by getting up early on the farm and listening to the songs of the birds and all the signs and sounds of nature's resurrection. You can hear the chickens, the cows and the hogs—the neighing horses as the farmer comes with their feed. You can hear the voices at the lot—as the boys or the hired hands draw water for the stock and make ready for the day. Then, as the first long golden lance of light strikes down across the silent fields, you can see all the life and bustle of another opening day. And all of it is sweet, and bringeth peace and joy—as we find out sometimes when we have left it and pine for it again.—Sylvania (Ga.) Telephone.

Cheering Up.

"When your work seems to be going wrong," says a woman who mixes practical philosophy with her work, "blow yourself to something nice. Go out and buy yourself a lovely dinner at a nice place, or get a new dress, or buy some flowers for your apartment. Yes, I know it will cost money, but the impetus it will give you in your work will amply repay you. When you see these things you will say to yourself: 'Well, I'm doing pretty well, after all, when I can afford to blow myself so,' and when you feel that you are doing well you will do well."

Edelheimer Stein Clothes

Young men's suits with plenty of grace and full of ginger—built in a way that grey-beards won't fancy and built in that fancy way because they're not meant for old folk. Wide-shouldered coats. Built-out chests and shapely waists. Full-pegged trousers with the new wide spring cuff at bottom. The shape that you find in 'em the first day will last to the last. It's permanent—tailored into the cloth—a matter of needle work—not pressing.

They wear so much longer that they're by all odds the cheapest clothes when you divide the number of months through which they give satisfaction into the price you give for them.
